- 5. That it is a liability of state to ensure its citizen's security of life and liberty where as in present case a victim's was burnt alive, now a days a new trend is in practice earlier in Rajasthan a priest was burnt alive and on 28.11.2020 in Soraon, Prayagraj, Harish Chandra Sharma was burnt alive by some persons.
- 6. That the right to life and liberty is a fundamental right provided under Article 21 of Indian Constitution which need to be protected from the loss incurred in burn cases where a bread earner of the family loss his life due to burning and the dependents were lost the hope of living due to various problems like financial, party's spousal relationship and a very real detriment.
- 7. That the loss of consortium is a novel concept, the spouses of a burn survivor may be entitled to compensation when an injury is so serious or a person lost his life due to severe burn injuries, then the victim families may be expeditiously grant the support by the state to ensure their livelihood and security.
- 8. That in the present case deceased victim Rakesh Singh was a journalist and as a journalist he was an asset of society who by his noble profession serving the society fearlessly, although every human life is precious but a human life who associated with a noble profession like Journalist, Advocate and doctors may be treated as "Special" due to the nature of their work.
- 9. That to establish the rule of law in the state of Uttar Pradesh, it is necessary to investigate the matter from special agency and sate may make arrangements of security and compensation to the dependents of deceased from the state funds under victim's compensation scheme.
- 10. That as a crime is of heinous nature which affect the collective conscience of the public and it need to be investigated in the proper manner to enable the victim's families to get justice.
- 11. That the applicants have no other option left except to approach this Hon'ble Court to take Suo Motu cognizance on the present matter otherwise the state machinery may save their skins from shifting their liabilities here and there.
- 12. That the applicants are not having any efficacious and speedy remedy to approach this Hon'ble Court under Article 226 of the constitution of India for necessary action.
